We are at your side:
With the usual services, secured production and supply chains

Dear business partner,
After weeks of restrictions, public life and parts of the economy are now being restarted bit by bit. We at SMC were not affected by any restrictions and are at your disposal with our service portfolio. At the same time, our main focus remains on the health of our employees, customers and partners. With comprehensive measures in production and warehouse logistics we secure our business activities so that we can offer you our products and services without any problems.

For you on site – thanks to hygiene measures and distance rules

You would like to clarify the implementation of industrial automation at your production site?
In compliance with the applicable hygiene measures and distance rules, we will be pleased to support you in your company on site, too. Please contact your SMC sales contact to clarify the possibility of a personal appointment.

Secured production and supply chains for your requirements

SMC stands for high-quality products and innovative solutions, worldwide presence and high availability. Our productions and supply chains are unrestrictedly available for you. In the current challenging situation with international transports, we can build on and trust our long-term partners. This enables us to support you, if necessary, in the short-term procurement of components as well as in the conversion of existing production facilities to crisis-relevant products. You can support us with forward planning so that we can ensure your timely supply at optimal costs.

Benefit from our digital services

Our digital services, such as the SMC eShop or engineering tools, offer you flexibility. These are available to you 24/7, regardless of working hours and location. You can also benefit from SMC training systems as well as webinars on various topics of industrial automation. Discover more on: <https://www.smc.eu/de-at/smc-informiert-covid-19>
